

Best Self Parenting Moment

We know what we did, we just have to know how we did it!

Think of a time you faced a successful “moment” with your child. There was a situation that ended with everyone feeling supported and understood. Write that situation here:

What “skills” did you use to make that situation successful? List them here:

What prevents you from using these skills in all situations?

